WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Belgium has been compelled to pay a total of $500,0000 to Germany in the form of a monthly "war contribution" in the four years since the war begain, a Belgian legation compilation shows. The amount was said to be exclusive of the large sums extorted from Belgian corporations, cities, towns and civilians.

Hurley Gives Out Text

Chairman Hurley reiterated his former statement of the ridiculousness of the Hun propaganda, and made public the text of the poster to demonstrate the methods being used by the Germans in what he characterized as "their safeguarding against similar tragedies were urgently demanded.

"If it is indeed found that negligence caused this explosion," said Judge Adrian Lyon, opening the Defence Council's case, "certainly the persons who were guilty of such negligence should not be intrusted with the same thing again. If, on the other hand, it is found that due care was taken, then it follows that, if the factory is rebuilt in the same place and in the same way, there will always be danger of a similar catastrophe."

To emphasize the point of how widespread such danger is under present days of the Defence Council's case, "certainly the persons who were guilty of such negligence should not be intrusted with the same thing again. If, on the other hand, it is found that due care was taken, then it follows that, if the factory is rebuilt in the same place and in the same value of the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is rebuilt in the same place and the factory is
